

Program Overview

As part of our mission, we are starting the CSCE Industry Mentorship Program.

The goal of the program is to connect UofT civil engineering students to industry professionals to form and foster effective mentor-mentee relationships from which students can gain valuable insight into the real-world application of the different subfields of civil engineering.

About CSCE

Provide civil engineering students with resources, tools, and programs to aid in their success

Aid students in their journey of professional development

Form and foster effective mentor-mentee relationships between UofT civil engineering students and industry professionals

How to Reach Out?

- ① Draft an email to your mentor introducing yourself and asking them for their availability to meet
- ② Schedule a meeting with your mentor at a mutually convenient time. Use a virtual tool such as Zoom, Google meets, phone call or schedule something in-person
- ③ Brainstorm a list of questions to ask your mentor. Some questions to kick-start a conversation can be:
 - a. How is your day going?
 - b. What academic and professional background do you have?
 - c. Can you tell me a bit about your current role?
- ④ MEET! Meet your mentor and get answers to your questions and build a professional network :)
